5. Report of the Friends Foundation. Jeff Riley and Laurie Troge

Jeff Riley reported that the Friends Foundation had a successful 2022, highlighting the 2i measure passing in November and raising $150,000 on Colorado Gives Day. The Friends also raised $300,000 in planned gift revenue. The Friends will provide their audited financial results to the Commission in the summer.

In 2023, the Friends will be focused on advocacy work and partnering with City Librarian Michelle Jeske to facilitate candidate outreach prior to the April mayoral election. Fundraising priorities include special collections (digital archiving), unfunded capital needs for the Central Library, author events, collection development (digital collections), and unrestricted money for emergent needs. Riley announced the Booklovers Ball will be held on October 14th, 2023. This year's theme is Fly Me to the Moon and will be held at the Wings Over the Rockies Museum. The presenting sponsor and top three secondary sponsors have all been secured for the event. Board Chair Laurie Troge shared that the Park View opening and social at Central Library for Commissioners and Board members will take place on March 3rd at 2:30 p.m. Commissioner Mathews and Niyompong gave heartfelt thanks to Troge and the entire Friends Foundation team for their partnership with the library.

6. Report of President and Members. Sonya Ulibarri

Commissioner Ulibarri formally welcomed Jennifer Wolf and Sean Montoya to the Library Commission. In addition, she mentioned both Commissioners joined the branch naming committee and Commissioner Montoya joined the Latino Awards committee. Commissioner Ulibarri welcomed back Commissioner Matthews to the meeting after undergoing surgery and taking a sabbatical. Commissioner Buchanon shared thanks for the leadership for the Juanita Gray awards and is looking forward to working with the planning committee in the future.

Ulibarri shared goals for the Commission. First, successfully implement the voter approved and newly launched Denver Public Library Fund and manage internal and external expectations related to the passage of 2i. Second, supporting the transition of a new City administration- including a new mayor, appointments, and vision for the City. Third, continuing to strengthen relationships between Commissioners, the Friends Foundation, and DPL employees. Fourth, deepen DPL's equity lens and support executive level EDI work. Fifth, make small advances towards the long-term goal of establishing an independent library district or improving governance. Additionally, she encouraged further Commissioner engagement through scheduling branch visits/tours and echoed Troge's invitation to the Park View celebration on March 3rd.

Commissioner Lucas shared that the first Eleanor Gehres Award ceremony will be held in early April, the exact date is still being determined. Commissioner Matthews shared her experiences at the advocacy meeting with the Friends Foundation.

Ulibarri added that the first Finance Committee meeting of 2023 was successful. The committee recommended a new bylaw revision, discussed themes of approach and a budget timeline, sources of funds, and financial report expectations. Former Commissioner Chong is a member of the Finance Committee.

7. Library Commission Bylaws Revision. Sonya Ulibarri

Ulibarri began by highlighting that the Finance Committee is listed as an advisory group to the Commission (page 6, amendment 3). Further, the amendment states under purpose that ideally there will be 3 - 5 members in the committee make up, including at least two current Commissioners. Committee terms are one year.

Under the full bylaws, revisions include a replacement of gendered language, a decision made in alignment with the Commission's equity lens. Additionally, the outdated mission statement has been removed and updates to the technology language to include virtual meetings. Lastly, the bylaws removed the Commission president from signing contracts. These bylaws were last updated in 2018.

The Library Commission bylaws revision was motioned for approval by Commissioner Ulibarri, seconded by Commission Lucas with all in favor.

- 8. Resolutions for Commissioners. Sonya Ulibarri
 - a. Jehan Benton-Clark
 - b. Zi Chong

A resolution for former Commissioner Benton-Clark was motioned for approval by Lucas, seconded by Buchanon, and approved with all in favor. A resolution for former Commissioner Chong was motioned for approval by Niyompong, seconded by Montoya, and approved with all in favor.

9. 4th Quarter Financial Report. Amber Lindberg

Amber Lindberg explained that the Finance Department is closing the 2022 books and there will be minor adjustments through the end of February 2023. Following this, the City will begin its auditing process.

In the General Fund, an adjustment was made to the 2022 budget. There was an unusually high amount of vacancy savings, which was also the case for the City's overall budget. The City helped reallocate savings from 2022 into a non-lapsing fund for the coming year. Lindberg highlighted $4 million in savings supplemented bond projects at Athmar, Pauline Robinson, Schlessman and Barnum. Additional funding was allocated to be used in 2023: $120,000 for Decker bathroom renovations, $120,000 for materials holds lockers, $75,000 for vehicle purchases, and $300,000 for the City's migrant shelters.

There were no amendments to other funds for 2022. Most grants are multi-year and will continue into the coming year. Additionally, the library received a new National Endowment for the Humanities (NEH) grant in 2022 which will roll into 2023. ARPA funding will continue into 2023. ARPA funds are also present in the state grants for libraries line item but funding is not expected to continue in 2023.

Lindberg shared thanks to partners at the Budget and Management Office and the City Council for their support in re-appropriating funds for 2023. The City anticipates that every agency will return funds at the end of the year; DPL is expecting to return less than 3% of the operating budget. Continued challenges include supply chains and the labor market. The HR team is building out the team to support recruitment.

The Denver Public Library Fund (2i) will be included in future reports. Additionally, the team is also working with the City Council on a new capital fund. The library is required to allocate some of the DPL Fund to a capital fund for larger projects. Moving forward, the Finance team will present updates on these funding sources in one report. The library is continuing to partner with the Friends Foundation to make the best use of fundraising and grant opportunities. Lindberg shared her excitement for the Finance Committee kick-off and their work on further developing fiscal policies that support the new DPL Fund.

10. 2022 Action Plan Report. Kirsten Decker

Kirsten Decker highlighted key accomplishments from the 2022 action plan: 3,700 downloads of the DPL mobile app, expanded automated translation on the website, an archives diversity audit, eliminated fees for printing services, teen space renovations at Hadley and the new Central Children's Library, library use policy revisions, staff wage adjustments, DPL affinity groups, and engagement through storytime and phone-a-story programs.

11. Report of the City Librarian. Michelle Jeske

Michelle Jeske began by displaying the Engage magazine cover artwork; the design was created by the winner of the Black History Month library card design contest. Jeske shared that she was proud of the marketing and communications teams for their work on the contest. The artwork will also be displayed as a mural at a branch library.

The Career Online High School graduation will take place on February 25th at Gonzales. Other milestones include the Central Library reopening following a three week closure. Library services have been set-up in the Park View space with the entrance temporarily moved to Acoma Plaza. Jeske gave special thanks to Rachel Fewell and her team for their patience and persistence during the ongoing renovation. Fewell and the design team will present at a future meeting on next steps in the renovation.

In regards to the RISE Denver Bond, the library went before the City Council's Finance and Governance committee for approval of the purchase of the proposed Westwood branch. The committee passed it forward to the full Council and it is highly likely it will be approved. Construction on Westwood has already begun with funding supported by Dr. Lydia Prado of Lifespan Local and the Barton Institute. Funders purchased a church in Westwood and are constructing a 6,000 sq ft library attached to the main building. The opening date is projected for early 2024. Erika Martinez will be reporting on the naming process at future meetings.

The other new library space funded by the RISE bond is the Globeville branch. The property being explored for a new branch is at 4995 Washington St. DPL is exploring a site partnership with Globeville Redevelopment Partners LLC. The space will include affordable housing, and as required by the City, a community serving space on the first floor. An affordable food access space may potentially share this space as well. DPL will continue to work on negotiations with City real estate and develop design plans.

Questions:

- Q: Will DPL be keeping the current Westwood location? What is the distance between the two buildings?

A: Yes, the locations complement each other in terms of neighborhood location. At the new branch, there will be more of a focus on programs for immigrants, refugees, and early childhood development. The current location will have programs for older adults, teens, and an updated technology space. The distance between locations is approximately 1 mile.

- Q: Will the new Westwood branch be the only branch in a shared space with other community services?
 A: No, the Bob Ragland branch space exists in partnership with RedlineParks & Recreation, and the Rino Arts District.
- Q: Will DPL own or lease the proposed Westwood property?
 A: TheCity will own these properties. In regards to Westwood, the City will own the condominium attached to the church. The library cannot lease with bond funds. The Westwood project design, construction, and tenant finish will cost around $6 million, leaving another $6 million for furniture and technology.
- 12. Chief of Staff Report. Dustin Kress

Dustin Kress began with updates on compensation adjustments. Currently, work is being done to decompress all job classifications (except shelvers and clerks, who underwent adjustments in Q4 2022). Employees are expected to enter their experience in Workday for supervisor evaluations. Each employee's relevant work experience will be evaluated by 2 supervisors to diminish bias. Relevant experience will be evaluated with resources from the City and HR to determine a compensation appropriate adjustment.

Jay Torres Almovadar started last week as the new Director of Equity, Diversity, Inclusion, and Engagement. She is moving from North Carolina to Colorado and will be present for the April meeting. Jay was the top candidate among 53 applicants and Kress shared his excitement for her to join the team.

The library is working closely with City partners from the health department to access the risk involved with methamphetamine use in public bathrooms. Last week, 103 staff members joined a digital town hall meeting with DDPHE to hear up-to-date information from medical experts. Partners reiterated that secondhand exposure to meth use carries low risk and handwashing reduces risk even further. DPL is not doing pro-active testing but is undergoing an updated cleaning protocol and ventilation system assessment of branch bathrooms.

Kress lastly highlighted the work being done to lay the groundwork for implementation of the DPL Fund in 2023. The E-Team had a retreat to discuss 2023 budget priorities that will be cascaded to managers to help with budget proposals. This process is ongoing with a deeper update happening in June 2023. Kress ended by thanking the budget team for their work and collaboration.

Questions

- Q: How come other library systems are closing branches but DPL is not? Have there been assessments of potential hot spots in our library spaces?
- A: DPL is continuing to work closely with public health experts and following their guidance to assess safety in our spaces. Some other libraries are controlling bathroom access but DPL does not want to take steps to limit bathroom accessibility. Additionally, use of methamphetamine and other illegal substances are not allowed according to the library use policy.
- Q: What are the protocols if there is an incident in the library?
 A: Protocols include closing access to the space, allowing the space to ventilate, and enacting cleaning protocols on high-touch surfaces.

Q: What was the employee response to the town hall meeting? Were fears mitigated?
 A: There is a range of responses. We don't want to limit access to the bathrooms and want to also affirm people's legitimate health concerns. Our plan is to connect staff to resources so they feel safe and informed.

13. DPL Fund Implementation Update. Kirsten Decker and Jina Dunn (Presentation)

Jina Dunn began the update by highlighting the four major investment areas in 2023; capacity, collection, compensation, and infrastructure. Capacity goals include increasing library services and space availability (expanded hours), investing in staff development, and increased hiring and recruitment. Work is currently being done to meet hiring goals through partnership with HR and external recruiters. Collection goals will focus on the expansion of electronic materials, expanding world language offerings, and enhancing database offerings. The Special Collections team is working to digitize the Rocky Mountain News, a multi-year project. Additionally, shelving is being re-configured at Blair-Caldwell to increase accessibility. Other goals include hiring more Special Collections staff and purchasing a digital archive management system.

Compensation work highlights include pay adjustments in 2022 for ¹/₃ of all library staff (ASA I's & II's, Security). An evaluative pay adjustment period for all staff will begin in Q1 2023. The HR team will provide guidance and compensation philosophy research support for the next round of pay adjustments in late spring 2023.

Infrastructure work is varied and will include filling funding gaps in existing modernization and bond renovation projects. There will be a focus on high visibility modernization projects. This work will include refreshing facilities fixtures and improving long-term planning budgeting for depreciation. Infrastructure updates include physical and IT infrastructure. The goal is to bring all facilities up-to-date and plan long-term investments.

Decker highlighted some major milestones to date, including hiring a DPL Fund project coordinator to support implementation. Other highlights include developing a new hire hardware/software/supplies calculator to track costs in supporting staffing growth. There's also a collaborative timeline created with HR to support recruitment as hiring increases. Other highlights include developing a more standardized and equitable compensation toolkit to support managers with hiring, investing in Statista and Freegal services for patrons, and various infrastructure refreshes to branch community spaces.

Questions:

- Q: How many staff are expected to be hired through this fund implementation? Are there recruiters to support this process?
 A: The DPL Fund is expected to support the hiring of 140 net FTE in addition to20 FTE through the General Fund. HR is working with an external recruiter to help with creative solutions for group hirings and multiple postings, especially in regards to frontline staff. HR will also be hiring a recruiter and business partners. Hiring is planned for the entire year, which is included in funding estimates.
- Q: Does the DPL Fund support in filling funding gaps that the General Fund doesn't?
 A: Not necessarily, large multi-year projects are funded with capital funds. The General Fund expires annually and sometimes doesn't align with multi-year project timelines.

Q: Where do the funds needed to rename libraries come from?
 A: The General Fund: in the high-visibility projects there are funds set-aside for branding refreshes. Bond budgets don't usually include a line item for these types of situations.

14. Personnel Budget Revision. Dustin Kress and Karen Lam

Kress shared that library leadership requests the Commission approve a one-time bonus awarded to all staff in March 2023. All staff will be eligible that have been employed starting at 12/31/22. City partners and the DPL legal team confirmed that the Commission has the authority to authorize the bonus independent of City Council. Lam shared the funds are already existing within the DPL Fund, totalling approximately $1.5 million. The proposed award is $2,500 for FT, $1,250 for PT, and $600 for on-call staff.

The personnel budget revision was motioned for approval by Buchanon, seconded by Lucas, and approved with all in favor.

Questions:

Q: How are you planning on managing expectations on bonuses moving forward?
 A: This is phase 1 of the on-going compensation effort; this is being done in an effort to reflect and correct the pay structure. We are looking at the national landscape to evaluate appropriate pay ranges and will be hiring an HR analyst to further this work.

15. 2023 Action Plan Review. Kirsten Decker and Zeth Lietzau

Decker gave an overview of the costs needed to run the library. The General Fund is the most time-bound fund (annual) with unspent funds returning to the City. Grants, Special Trust, and the DPL Fund either have funds that don't expire annually or have alternative timelines set by the grants boards.

The General Fund allocates $57.9 million for salaries/benefits, $14.6 million to services, $3.9 million to supplies & services, $7.8 million for collection materials, and $6.35 million to tech refresh. A DPL capital fund is being created with the City Council.

The strategic roadmap theme of access and enrichment saw FTE staffing funding demonstrate a 43% increase over the 2022 fiscal year thanks to the DPL Fund. This investment has resulted in adding 65 new FTE. Other highlights include increased digital equity and removing barriers to access to materials. Space and place saw a 114% increase and added 81.25 FTE. Funding has further supported the Plaza program, and improved community and staff spaces. Cultural and organizational health saw a 38% increase and added 20.5 FTE. Improvements include plans to replace the old employee intranet and fund a field trip program for customers. Capital budget funding is supporting on-going facilities maintenance, repair, and replacement work.

16. Other Business.

Commissioner Wolf shared her experience attending the Native American Women's Chamber of Commerce. The granddaughter of Thunderbird Man was present and shared her disappointment that there isn't increased Native American representation at the branch (including visual displays, highlighting Native authors, etc).

17. Overview and Tour of Hadley Branch Library. Daniyom Bekele

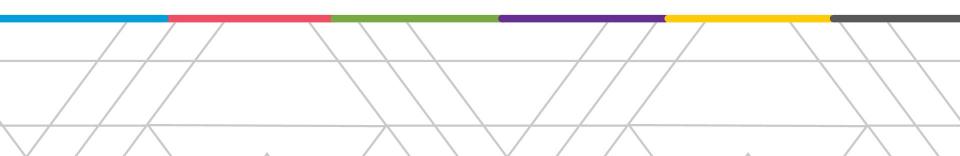

Hadley Branch Senior Librarian Daniyom Bekele introduced Commissioners to the branch. Bekele shared information about the staff, community, and popular services, and the nearly completed new teen space.

18. Adjournment.

The meeting was adjourned at 10:54 a.m.

Requested Action: Receive Report

April 2023 City Librarian Report Central Library Partially Reopens

The Denver Central Library reopened to the public in a new temporary space, The Park View, on February 14th. The same, limited public services previously offered are available in the space located in the northern portion of the first floor, including borrower services, holds pick up, materials retrieval, the Children's Library, access to Western History & Genealogy and Reference services (archives and research), and Community Resources. The new, temporary, public entrance to the building is located on the west side of the building, between 13th Avenue and 14th Avenue on Acoma Plaza, across from the Denver Art Museum. The building's hours of operation are Monday to Thursday 1 p.m. - 6 p.m., and Sundays 12 p.m. - 5 p.m.

Supporters and friends gathered to celebrate the opening of Park View in early March to hear about what makes the space special and to get a sneak peek of the next phase of construction in Schlessman Hall.

New Westwood Branch Library Approved

Thank you to City Council for approving the purchase of a condo unit in the Westwood community which will become the newest Denver Public Library branch. The new branch will allow the library to expand its footprint and services offered in the Westwood community. The project is part of the RISE Denver bond, which was approved by Denver voters in 2021.

Career Online High School Celebrates Graduates

The Denver Public Library hosted an in person graduation ceremony for its Career Online High School (COHS) graduating class on February 25. This year, 11 graduates accepted their diplomas with family and friends in attendance.

Celebrate Neurodiversity with DPL

Neurodiversity identifies the range of normal human variation specific to neurological and behavioral differences. About 20% of the U.S. population identifies as neurodivergent. Check out

Stories of Impact

"I've been leading a series of arts and crafts workshops this month and they've been awesome! Last week's program was a zine-making program and was truly intergenerational -- we had people ranging from 10-60, all talking together and making art. This week we were working on collages and three return participants showed up! In addition, two people who randomly sat down next to each other exchanged numbers and really hit it off! These programs have just been a really great reminder of what libraries do -- bring people together who may not otherwise share space." - Submitted by staff via Stories of Impact

"We have a few customers who come at the end of the day each Wednesday to see if we have leftover boxes. What started out as a simple interaction with one woman, pleased because her grandchildren like eggs and she can't afford to buy them at the grocery, became a longer story about the unexpected death of her daughter last year and her effort to adopt her grandkids. We see more and more families comprised of older grandparents trying to make ends meet while raising their grandchildren, and our food boxes are making a real difference in the lives of this specific family in the midst of their struggles." - Submitted by staff via Stories of Impact

Spotlight on Neighborhood Services

Space and Place

Bond Renovations

- Blair-Caldwell is looking beautiful and we are excited to return to the space this Summer.
- Athmar Park, Barnum, Pauline Robinson, and Schlessman have completed design and entering the permitting phase
- Broadway and Hampden renovation projects have launched

Other Space Enhancements

- Decker is in the process of rearranging their first floor and freshening their basement
- Westwood is set to expand their space with a new computer lab later this quarter
- Youth Spaces: Montbello, Hadley, and Ford-Warren have received significant investments in their teen areas and teens have been utilizing the spaces regularly.
- Park Hill has been working with our Project Coordinator to develop some designs for their upcoming space enhancements to be completed later this year.

Situational Awareness and Preparedness

We continue to face a wide array of safety and security challenges at our locations and Neighborhood Services has been working closely with our Security team in developing resources for our branch teams. This includes practicing situational awareness, monthly emergency preparedness bulletins, daily morning huddles, learning and adapting to the new incident reporting system.

Cultural & Organizational Health

Interim Positions and Staff Exchange (upcoming) Programs

For the past several years we have developed and refined our process for interim leadership positions. We have internally posted for almost 10 positions from Branch Supervisors to our Cultural Inclusivity Administrator role. This opportunity is available to qualified staff when the permanent staff member in the role is out for an extended leave or the position is vacant due to a resignation. At this point 2 of these staff members have received permanent promotions. Later this year we have partnered with Human Resources in developing an opportunity for our staff members to swap locations with someone in their same position for a limited time to experience and connect with staff and community at another location.

Professional Contributions by Neighborhood Services Staff

Staff across the division are involved in professional organizations and contribute to publications. You can see staff's most recent contributionslisted here

Access and Enrichment

Service Expansion

We have been doing a lot of preparation to expand hours at our Community Hub locations. Those locations include Blair-Caldwell (upon reopening), Gonzales, Green Valley Ranch, Hadley, Hampden, Sam Gary, and Schlessman (post renovation in 2024).

Living Our Values: Branches and Coordinated Services

Our Branch Supervisors and Coordinated Services Departments were asked to share a couple examples of how their staff and locations are living our values with their communities. You can read the diverse experiences and services at our branches here and Coordinated Services here

Collection Services DPL Fund Implementation

DPL Fund - eBook Wait Times

Holds ratios on eBooks have always been 6:1, meaning we purchase 6 copies for every 1 customer hold. Prior to the DPL Fund, a 100 copy cap was in place to moderate spending and stretch the budget through the calendar year. Extremely popular tiles could have hold ratios far exceeding the desired 6:1 ratio. DPL funding has made it possible to lift the 100 copy cap allowing for the 6:1 ratio on all titles.

Denver Public Library - 2022 Endowment Distribution and Fundraising Funds Report

Endowment

Endowment Funds help support the operational and strategic work of the Denver Public Library. These funds are managed and invested by the Denver Public Library Friends Foundation on behalf of the library, and are both restricted and unrestricted in nature. The library received $300,000 in endowment funds from the Friends Foundation in 2022. Following are the details of expenditures made by the library from these funds.

Collection Development

In 2022, the Collection Development department received the following disbursement of endowment funds from the Denver Public Library Friends Foundation. The funds were used to acquire items for the circulating collection including poetry collections, transportation books and adult education materials.

Sharon Gravelle Endowment	acquisition of library materials	$18,022

Community Awards and Administration Latino Awards

The Denver Public Library received $1,052 from the Latino Awards endowment in 2022. Funds contributed to the annual Latino Awards event held at the Rodolfo "Corky" Gonzales Branch Library on September 24, 2022. This event is part of the Denver Public Library's celebration of National Hispanic Heritage Month. This month-long celebration (September 15 - October 15), honors and celebrates the history, the many contributions, and the rich culture of Latinos. In 2022, Dr. Irene Martinez Jordan was honored with the Lena L. Archuleta Community Service Award, Elaine D. Torres was honored with the Eric J. Duran Community Service Award, and Jordan T. Garcia received the César Chávez Latino Leadership Hall of Fame Award.

Barbara Jordan Funds

In 2022, $1,592 was distributed to DPL from the endowment to contribute to the cost of the staff learning and development.

Nell Scott Endowment

$280 was distributed to support the DPL Employee of the Year award. For 2022 nominations are still being collected and will be announced during a staff day event on October 26, 2023. This honor will recognize a staff member whose outstanding service and dedication support the Library's Mission.

Unrestricted Endowment

Unrestricted endowment funds of $31,668 were combined with other DPL funds in 2022 to support purchase of additional collection materials.

Fundraising

In 2022, in lieu of a distribution of fundraising revenue to DPL, the Friends Foundation focused its efforts on campaigning for our successful Strong Library Strong Denver tax initiative.

Agenda Item 11b

Requested Action: Approve Endowment Request

Denver Public Library - 2023 Endowment Request

The Denver Public Library requests the disbursement of $268,332 from the Denver Public Library Friends Foundation Restricted Endowment Funds for expenditure in 2023 as follows.

Collection Development

The Collection Development department requests a disbursement of $27,586 from Friends Foundation Endowment funds. The funds will be used to acquire items for the circulating collection including new musical scores, poetry collections, transportation books and adult education materials.

Special Collections and Digital Archives (SCDA)

The Denver Public Library Special Collections and Digital Archives department (formerly known as Western History and Genealogy) requests $237,822 from the Friends Foundation Endowment funds in 2023. The purpose of this disbursement is to support archival supplies and equipment, and other antiquarian materials.

Community Awards and Administration

The Denver Public Library requests $1,052 from the Latino Awards Endowment in 2023 to help support the annual Latino Awards event this fall.

The Barbara Jordan Funds of $1,592 will support staff learning.

Nell Scott Endowment funds of $280 will be used to recognize the 2023 DPL Employee of the Year. They will receive an award and a membership to an organization of their choice for their dedication and exceptional service.

Unrestricted

No unrestricted Endowment allotments will be requested for 2023.

Fundraising

For 2023, the Friends Foundation is not planning to make an unrestricted fundraising distribution to the Denver Public Library. Instead, these funds will be redirected to provide operating support and help the Foundation pay off the loan and interest for the Story Still to Tell campaign. The loan was needed due to the timing of pledge receipts versus construction needs.

DENVER PUBLIC LIBRARY Q1 2023 Financial Report

This report includes unaudited financial statements for the Denver Public Library (DPL) year-to-date activity as of March 31, 2023. The purpose of these statements is to inform the Library Commission of DPL's financial activities and to demonstrate compliance with the 2023 Budget approved by the Library Commission.

Budgetary funds managed by the library include the General Fund, Denver Public Library Fund (DPL Fund), DPL Capital Fund, Special Trust Fund, and several grant funds. This report provides information on budget and actual activities for all DPL funds for the 2023 fiscal year. Library management has authority to make budgetary adjustments between lines in the General, DPL and Special Trust funds during the fiscal year to reflect operational changes. However, grantor approval is generally necessary prior to making budgetary adjustments between lines in grant funds, and City Council must approve budgetary adjustments for the DPL Capital Fund.

The total amount of the General Fund budget remains unchanged throughout the fiscal year unless a formal budget amendment is adopted by City Council. The DPL Fund budget is based on estimates provided by the City Department of Finance and varies annually based on property tax assessments. At the end of each fiscal year, DPL and the City will reconcile actual revenues with projected and adjust our fund balance accordingly. The DPL Capital Fund requires City Council approval to appropriate budget into projects or establish new projects during the year. Library management may adjust the total amount of the Special Trust Fund budget, though total changes of 10% or greater require approval by the Library Commission. Grant fund budgets may change during the course of the fiscal year as new grants are received.

One indicator of sound budget management is spending as close to our allocated General Fund budget as possible without overspending. All remaining General Fund budget is returned to the City on December 31, and excessive over- or under-spending of the total budget allocation may imply ineffective resource management. Any unspent funds in the DPL Fund and Special Trust Fund are retained by the library which can be budgeted in a future year. The DPL Capital Fund is also able to retain unspent budget at the end of the calendar year; projects budgeted in this fund are often multi-year investments.

Notes

Encumbrances (procured, but not paid) are not included in the Actual column, only paid invoices are reflected in these reports. The 2022 financial records are now closed while the City conducts the annual independent audit process and prepares the Comprehensive Annual Financial Report, which will be concluded this summer. Invoices related to 2022 work that are not already paid will be paid against the 2023 budget. While not significant in amount, this is a normal occurrence every year and we are confident that we can absorb these expenditures in our existing budget.

All DPL locations continue to operate with limited hours, and several library locations are currently under construction or getting ready to start construction, which limits staff and services provided at these locations.

General Fund

The General Fund remains the primary operating fund for DPL, used for most of our permanent staffing and ongoing daily operations. With one quarter of the year complete, we are on target for overall spending in this fund.

Personnel expenditures are much more aligned with the budget this year when compared to 2022, and we expect this trend to continue through the year. The HR team increased staffing in their department and also hired a contract recruiter to support the need for system-wide recruiting in 2023. With branch hours beginning to expand this summer, we will continue to see higher personnel spending in 2023.

Supplies and services categories also depict normal spending for the first quarter. One exception is technology equipment which continues to experience supply chain delays resulting from the pandemic. The Information Technology department is aware of these delays and has been working with vendors to order equipment earlier this year to allow for longer lead times in delivery.

Denver Public Library Fund (DPL Fund)

Property Tax Revenue is recognized as payments are received from taxpayers each month, explaining the $14 million collected in the first quarter. However, the full amount expected to be collected this year ($32 million) has already been appropriated to the DPL Fund expenditure budget.

Actual spending has been slow to begin in the DPL Fund but a lot has been happening behind the scenes. This expenditure pace is expected due to the nature of the investments budgeted in the fund. Adding personnel, entering formal contracts with vendors, and planning construction are all intensive programs that require extensive resources to implement. The DPL Fund project team continues to meet weekly monitoring progress on implementing planned programs. The Finance department is working with library budget managers and city partners on staging 2023 procurement needs.

Recruiting has ramped up in the DPL Fund this quarter, and payrolls will begin reflecting filled positions next quarter. The $1.5 million bonus payment approved by Library Commission in February was successfully paid to employees in March. For payroll processing, the bonus was expensed in the General Fund when paid but will be manually moved to the DPL Fund in April to align with the intent of the resources.

Leases and Rentals include a budget for vehicles and a lot to park and protect the library fleet. Our Facilities department is working with City Real Estate on locating and viewing property for a fleet yard; we are exploring potential locations, purchase and lease options, and feasibility for short and long term needs. Fleet supply continues to be extremely short of buyer demand so we are working on vehicle leasing options until purchases can be made.

Major items in the Professional Services line include technology ADA compliance audit and corrections, facilities condition assessments, building automation system upgrades and the Rocky Mountain News project. These items are all undergoing the procurement process, and we will begin seeing invoices as soon as phased work is completed.

In addition to the $220K currently spent in Supplies and Services, an additional $685K is already encumbered and waiting for delivery - in general, we do not pay for goods or services before receiving them. The contract for the Special Collection department's Digital Asset Management has a start date of April 1; payments will begin showing in the Books and Educational Materials line for this next quarter. $1 million is also budgeted in the Books and Educational Materials line for Overdrive (eBook) materials. The Collection Services department has been actively spending our most restricted resources first – including ARPA, State Grants for Libraries, and Trust funds – then will begin spending from the DPL Fund for these materials.

Other Funds

There are no significant operational changes in the Special Trust Fund in 2023 from 2022 as the library transitions into using these resources as a more stable pass through of DPL Friends Foundation support efforts, rather than depending on this revenue as a way to fund operational budgetary gaps. Departments such as Special Collections & Digital Archives (depicted in the Central Library lines) and Collection Services (included in Collection, Technology and Strategy lines) will likely always have a budget in the Special Trust Fund due to several pass through resources from the Friends Foundation, including the Endowment distribution. One unusual item is in the Unrestricted Collection, Technology and Strategy line which contains $87K for technology ordered in late 2022 that has not been delivered as of this quarter.

The State Grants for Libraries is all for collection materials in 2023 and has already been procured for the year. Institute for Museums and Library Services and National Endowment for the Humanities grants are on target. We continue to depend on American Recovery Plan Act (ARPA) Federal funding to supplement the operational budget that was cut from the General Fund in 2020. Additional budget was awarded this year to support 4.0 FTE in the Digital Inclusion program. As all ARPA expires in 2024, we will continue to work with the Budget Management Office to transition these staff, collection materials and supplies back into the General Fund.

Capital Investments

DPL Capital Fund was approved by City Council and the fund was established in late March. By ordinance, capital projects were created for: Facilities Deferred Maintenance, Facilities Life Cycle Sustainment, and Bond Funded Project Supplemental. These are intentionally broad categories that will report multi-year projects. A budget transfer of $6,025,000 has been approved for capital projects starting in 2023. Based on the magnitude of the projects funded here, we expect budget to roll over to 2024.

The scope of work is currently under review with the architect for Decker Branch lower level upgrades, which include flooring replacement and a restroom renovation. Proposals for design on the materials holds lockers are currently being received and design is expected to begin in the second quarter.

"The explosion sent a 500-foot orange fireball flame into the sky, and even measured 1.5 on the Richter earthquake scale near the office of the U.S.G.S. in Golden, Colorado," says a Denver Public Library blog on the incident. "Estimates, at that time, were $5 million to $10 million in damages."

Opinion: Rediscovering Denver's hidden gems in retirement

By Jo Ann Allen

https://www.denverpost.com/2023/04/08/exploring-denverhidden-gems-retirement

Stumbling upon the Decker Branch of the Denver Public Library was another kick in the head. It proves that not all of the system's facilities feature nondescript, late 20th-century architecture. That's because it was built in 1912 in the Platt Park neighborhood.
